CONTENT PLAN

December 3, 2025

Agenda

1. Content strategy & objectives
2. Ideal customers & positioning
3. Your content program
4. Content workflow & production
5. Content amplification
6. Ongoing management & optimization
7. Next steps & action items

Overview

Content is the bridge connecting your organization to your ideal customers, fostering trust, engagement, and credibility. This content plan serves as a roadmap, guiding the creation and distribution of impactful content that resonates with KTC Search's audiences.

What is a Content Plan?

- A strategic blueprint: It outlines the what, why, and how of content creation.
- A tool for consistency: Ensuring regular touchpoints with your audience.
- A guide for integration: Demonstrating how content weaves into everything, from owned experiences like websites and emails to amplified experiences such as paid campaigns and ABM.

Why is it Important?

- Engagement: Quality content engages, educates, entertains.
- Visibility: Regular content boosts brand presence in a crowded market.
- Trust: Consistent, value-driven content establishes brands as industry thought leaders.

What's Included?

- Foundation: Mission statement, ideal customers, content categories, asset types, and attributes.
- Brand Positioning & Messaging: Clear narrative aligned to KTC Search's value proposition.
- Content Program: Structure and output of The Executive Advantage Series.
- Content Workflow: How content is captured, produced, and distributed.
- Management: Ongoing optimization and planning processes.

At a time where attention spans are limited and customers expect more from companies, a well-crafted content plan is not just an asset—it's a necessity.

Foundation

This section establishes the core building blocks of KTC Search's content strategy: target audiences, key messaging pillars, and brand voice. This framework ensures every piece of content reinforces how KTC Search delivers high-impact executive talent that accelerates business performance.

Overview

When it comes to your organization's content strategy, a solid foundation is the difference between content that merely exists and content that moves the needle for your best customers.

The Foundation section of your Content Plan is where we lay the groundwork for all your future content efforts. It's where your entire content strategy is built, ensuring that every piece of content you create is purposeful, targeted, and aligned with your business goals.

Let's break down the key components of this crucial Foundation:

Mission Statement

Before your organization writes a blog post or produces a video, you need to draft a mission statement. Your organization's content mission statement helps ensure every content asset created aligns with three key things:

- Your ideal customer
- Your ideal customer's main problems/challenges
- How your organization can help your ideal customer

Ideal Customer Profile(s)

Understanding your audience is the most important part to creating content that resonates. The ICP goes beyond basic demographics, diving deep into the psychographic behaviors, and pain points of your target audience. By referencing the ICPs outlined in your company's core Marketing Strategy, we ensure that every piece of content speaks directly to the people you want to reach. Here are the key components to your ICP (as a starting point):

- Demographic information (age, location, job title)
- Psychographic details (values, interests, lifestyle)
- Pain points and challenges
- Goals and aspirations
- Preferred communication channels

These attributes act as metadata, making it easier to manage and repurpose content over time.

Overview

Key attributes might include:

- Target audience/ICPs
- Buying stages
- Business objectives

By consistently applying these attributes, you create a structured content library that's easy to navigate and leverage for various marketing initiatives.

Sample Brief

The sample brief ties all these elements together, showing how we spec out a piece of content using asset types, categories, ICP, and other attributes.

This brief serves as a template for future content creation, ensuring that every piece of content is well-planned and aligned with your overall strategy.

A typical brief might include:

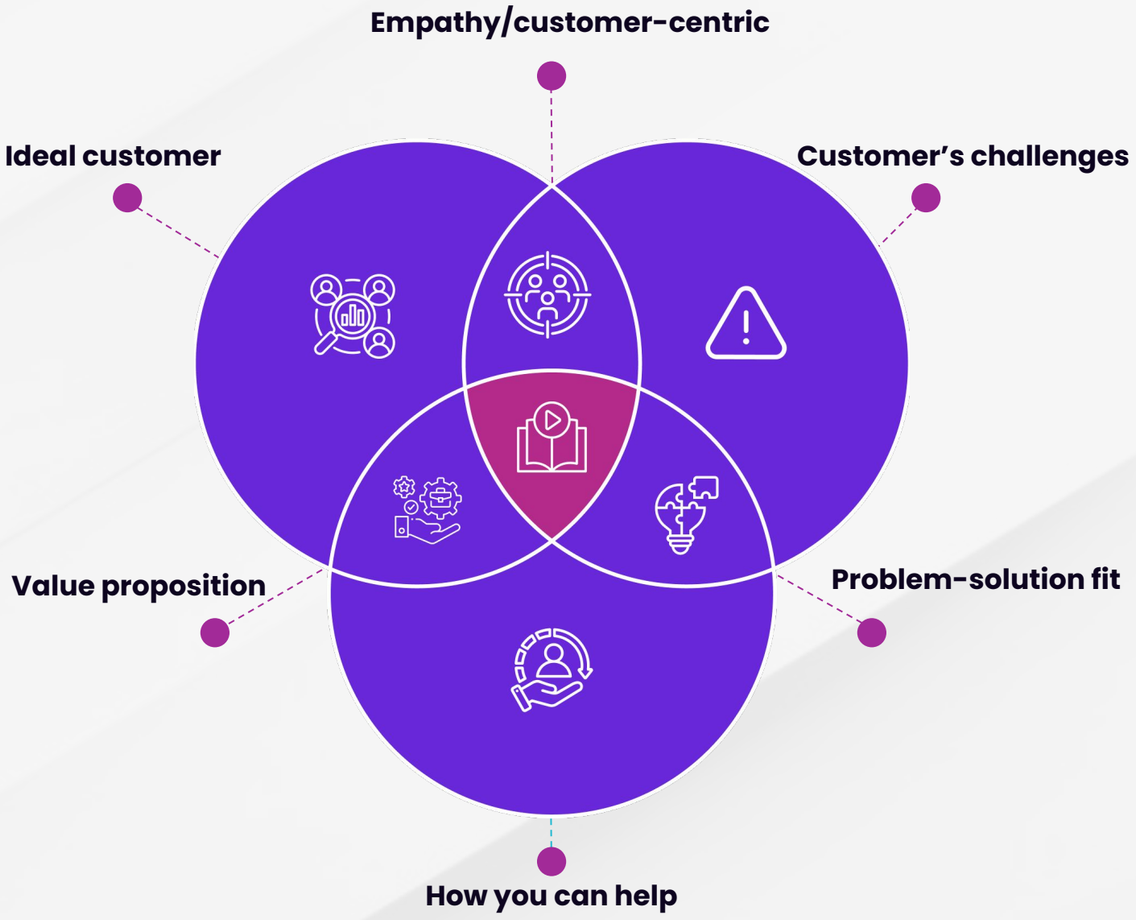
- Asset type
- Category
- Abstract
- File type
- Target ICP(s)
- Buying stage(s)
- Business objective(s)

The brief setup process creates a standardized process for content ideation and creation, streamlining workflows and maintaining consistency across all your content efforts.

The Foundation section of your Content Plan is where strategy meets execution. It's where we develop a system to transform your marketing goals into concrete content directives.

With this strong foundation in place, you're well-equipped to build a content strategy that not only reaches your audience but resonates with them.

Content Mission Statement



KTC Search's content is where private equity operating partners and portfolio company executives turn to find leadership and talent insights that help them solve urgent hiring challenges so they can secure high-impact leaders who accelerate performance and value creation.

Ideal customer

David Chen | Operating Partner @ Freeman Capital

Thinks

Time kills deals. Every day without the right CEO costs millions. The big firms take too long and don't understand our urgency. We need someone who gets portfolio dynamics.

Says

"We need someone in seat within 60 days." "The last search firm took six months and still missed." "Can you handle multiple searches simultaneously?"

Sees

Portfolio companies underperforming without strong leadership. Competitors moving faster on talent. Limited time until next fund raise. Board pressure intensifying.

Pains

Search firms don't understand PE timelines. Candidates balk at equity-heavy packages. Cultural mismatches derail transformations. Traditional firms lack urgency.

Feels

Pressure mounts with each vacant leadership role. Portfolio company performance directly impacts my reputation. I feel responsible for every placement's success.

Does

Manages 8-10 portfolio companies concurrently. Attends weekly portfolio reviews. Networks constantly for talent pipeline. Reviews performance metrics obsessively.

Hears

LPs questioning portfolio performance. CEOs requesting better talent support. Competition winning deals with superior operating teams. Industry shifting toward operational excellence.

Goals

Fill critical roles within 90 days. Build repeatable talent playbook. Find leaders who thrive in PE environments. Create competitive advantage through superior talent.

Ideal customer

Jennifer Martinez | CEO @ PowerGrid Solutions

Thinks

We have 24 months of backlog but lack leaders to capture it. The utility market requires specialized knowledge. Wrong hire means lost opportunity in this boom.

Says

"We need someone who speaks utility language." "Our sales team can't keep up with demand." "Find me someone from Eaton or ABB."

Sees

Competitors expanding aggressively. Data center construction everywhere. Grid investment accelerating. Traditional hiring methods failing in hot market.

Pains

Generic recruiters don't understand our technical requirements. Candidates lack utility market experience. Compensation expectations skyrocketing. Time-to-fill extending beyond acceptable limits.

Feels

Excited about growth but anxious about execution. Pride in products meeting critical infrastructure needs. Frustrated by talent shortage in our specialized market.

Does

Visits customer sites weekly. Reviews production capacity daily. Interviews constantly but finds few qualified candidates. Engages board on growth strategy monthly.

Hears

Customers demanding faster delivery. PE investors pushing for scale. Industry veterans retiring rapidly. AI driving unprecedented infrastructure investment.

Goals

Scale revenue 3x in three years. Build world-class commercial team. Capture AI infrastructure opportunity. Position company for strategic exit.

Ideal customer

Marcus Thompson | Founder/CEO @ DataSync Technologies

Thinks

I've taken us this far but need professional sales leadership now. Our product sells itself isn't sustainable. Board wants predictable revenue growth yesterday.

Says

"We need someone who's scaled from $50M to $500M before." "Can they start as interim then convert?" "Our sales process needs complete overhaul."

Sees

Competitors with professional sales teams winning. Sales team turnover increasing. Investors demanding better metrics. Market window closing rapidly.

Pains

Founder-led sales hitting ceiling. No repeatable sales methodology. Difficulty attracting enterprise sellers. Interim needs before permanent hire decision.

Feels

Pride in product but frustrated by sales inconsistency. Nervous about giving up sales control. Excited about potential but overwhelmed by execution complexity.

Does

Still joins customer calls. Reviews every deal over $100K. Switches between product and sales priorities. Seeks advisors who've scaled similar companies.

Hears

VCs preaching "rule of 40." Success stories of CRO transformations. Sales team complaining about process gaps. Customers requesting enterprise features.

Goals

Achieve $100M ARR within 18 months. Build predictable revenue engine. Reduce founder dependency. Prepare for Series D or exit.

Buying stages

Awareness – Prospect recognizes that leadership gaps or underperformance are limiting growth, execution, or value creation.

Consideration – Prospect explores executive search partners and evaluates approaches for identifying and assessing "PE-ready" or transformational leaders.

Decision – Prospect compares firms, reviews track records, aligns on role requirements, and determines which partner can deliver the right leader with speed and rigor.

Customer Success – Post-engagement stage focused on ensuring placed executives are successful in their first 90 days and evaluating future leadership needs across the portfolio.

Business objectives

Establish market authority – Position KTC Search as the go-to expert in high-impact executive placement for PE firms and portfolio companies.

Enable sales conversations – Provide content that supports early-stage discussions, reinforces credibility, and helps define leadership needs with precision.

Support ABM campaigns – Create assets that deepen engagement with target PE firms, operating partners, and portfolio executives.

Demonstrate proven outcomes – Highlight how KTC Search placements accelerate performance, unlock growth, and drive measurable value creation.

Accelerate the decision cycle – Reduce time from interest to engagement by educating prospects on leadership challenges, search process rigor, and expected outcomes.

Content Brief

Proposed Title (the "big idea"): Why PE-Backed Companies Stall Without the Right First 90-Day Leader

Abstract: Many PE-backed companies lose critical momentum because newly placed executives struggle to make early impact. The first 90 days determine whether a leader accelerates value creation—or unintentionally slows it down. This episode breaks down the real-world patterns KTC Search sees across successful and unsuccessful placements, including what separates leaders who create momentum from those who create drag.

Asset Type: Video episode
Category: Executive Search & Leadership Placement
Attributes
- Ideal Customer Profile: PE Operating Partner or Portfolio Company CEO
- File Type: URL
- Buying Stage: Awareness
- Business Objective: Establish credibility and demonstrate KTC Search's expertise in assessing "PE-ready" leadership

Inputs
- Video episode with an interview (link to .mp4)

Proposed Title (the "big idea"): How the Right CRO Transformed Revenue Performance in a PE-Backed Industrial Company

Abstract: Revenue stalls often point to leadership, not market conditions. In this short-form video, we highlight how a newly placed CRO reshaped commercial strategy, rebuilt accountability, and unlocked measurable revenue growth within a PE-backed industrial organization. The clip demonstrates what "impact leadership" looks like in practice—and how the right executive immediately shifts performance trajectories.

Asset Type: Short-form video
Category: Talent Strategy & Organizational Performance
Attributes
- Ideal Customer Profile: PE Operating Partner or Industrial CEO
- File Type: .mp4
- Buying Stage: Consideration
- Business Objective: Support ABM campaigns and reinforce the value of transformational executive placements

Brand Positioning & Messaging

KTC Search positions as a specialized executive search partner for private equity and portfolio company leaders, delivering high-impact executives who accelerate performance and value creation. The firm differentiates through speed, rigor, and a deep understanding of PE-ready leadership.

Brand Positioning & Messaging

Your ideal customers have a lot of choices in the market. So establishing a distinct and resonant brand story is more than just a task; it's a crucial part of everything we develop.

This section is where we craft the narrative of your brand, a story that not only distinguishes you in the marketplace but deeply resonates with your target audience.

We leverage the Storybrand framework and use it to carve out a unique space for your brand in the minds of your customers.

Here's what this section encompasses:
Understanding the Character: At the heart of your brand's story is the primary character (or "hero").

The hero is your ideal customer.

Crafting the Story: Once the character is outlined, we use techniques to establish your brand as the guide on their journey. We uncover how your brand plays a role in transforming your customer from one state to another.

Ultimately, your brand's story helps:

- Provide a human connection
- Highlight differences between your brand and competitors (or alternatives)
- Build trust and loyalty
- Establish a foundation for all communication

MiD

Your Customer

Private equity partners and portfolio company CEOs want transformational executives who drive rapid value creation and successful exits.

Has a Challenge

Villain: The villain is time—every day without the right leader costs millions in unrealized value and missed opportunities.

External problem: Finding proven executives who thrive in PE-backed environments and deliver results within compressed timeframes.

Internal problem: Fear that the wrong hire will derail the investment thesis and damage their reputation with investors.

Philosophical: The right leader transforms portfolio companies; the wrong one destroys value.

Finds Your Company

Empathy: Kersten understands the unique pressures of PE ownership—the board meetings, the LP expectations, the exit timeline counting down.

Authority: Michael Kersten has successfully placed executives across multiple portfolio companies for Oaktree Capital, Centerbridge, and other leading PE firms.

You Give Them a Plan

Process: Kersten deploys a white-glove approach: understand the investment thesis, map the market rapidly, and deliver vetted candidates within 60 days.

Agreement or guarantee: 90-day replacement guarantee with ongoing support through the critical first 100 days of executive integration.

You Call Them to Action

Direct: Engage Kersten for your next critical executive search.

Transitional or secondary: Schedule a consultation to discuss your portfolio's talent strategy.

*Note - additional educational CTAs also apply as the library of materials expands.

To Experience Success

- Executive in seat within 90 days
- Portfolio company hits value creation milestones
- Successful exit at target multiples
- Expanded relationship across multiple portfolio companies
- Talent becomes competitive advantage in LP presentations

And Avoid Failure

- Avoid failed transformations from cultural mismatches
- Prevent portfolio underperformance from leadership gaps
- Eliminate six-month searches that kill momentum

You Help Transform Your Customer

From anxiety about unfilled leadership roles and uncertain portfolio performance to confidence in having the right executives driving predictable value creation.

Content Program

Before creating individual content pieces, we establish a flagship program that anchors the entire content strategy. A content program provides a repeatable way to generate expert insights through conversations with executives, operators, and industry leaders. For KTC Search, that program is The Executive Advantage Series—a video-led platform that produces multiple derivative assets from each episode for consistent, efficient content production.

Content Program

A content program is the strategic engine that drives your content marketing efforts. It's a structured, ongoing initiative that delivers valuable, relevant content to your audience consistently. Unlike ad-hoc content creation, a content program is a planned series of interconnected pieces that work together to achieve your marketing objectives.

What is a content program?

A content program is a cohesive content strategy that involves creating and distributing a series of related content pieces over time. It's designed to engage your audience, build brand authority, and guide prospects through the buyer's journey. This approach ensures that your content efforts are coordinated, consistent, and aligned with your overall marketing goals.

Why is a content series important?
A content series is crucial for several reasons:

1. Consistency: It helps maintain a regular publishing schedule, keeping your audience engaged.
2. Depth: It allows you to explore topics in-depth, establishing your expertise across your defined categories.
3. Real People: A series is built using long-form interview content, capturing real people sharing real experiences.
4. Storytelling: It enables you to tell a larger story over time, building narrative and brand connection.
5. SEO: Regular, related content (tying to your company's main categories) boosts your search engine visibility.
6. Lead Nurturing: It provides multiple touchpoints to guide prospects through the sales funnel. A series gives you the ability to create content for all buying stages defined by your organization.
7. File Types: A series gives you the foundation to create other content asset types. A single interview (long-form video) can get expanded into 3, 4 or more content asset types.

Content Program

Different formats

Content programs can take various forms, including:

- Blog series: A collection of related blog posts exploring different aspects of a topic.
- Video series: Episodic video content, such as tutorials, interviews, or behind-the-scenes looks.
- Webinar series: A sequence of online workshops or presentations on related themes.
- Courses: A series of educational videos or articles delivered over time.
- Cohorts: A selected set of customers taken through a customized program with shared experiences.

How does a content program work?

A content program is built using a continuous flow of activities, including:

1. Strategy: Define your goals, target audience, and themes.
2. Planning: Outline your content series, including topics, formats, and publishing schedule.
3. Creation: Develop your content, ensuring consistency in tone and quality.
4. Distribution: Share your content across relevant channels.
5. Promotion: Amplify your content through owned, earned, and paid media.
6. Engagement: Interact with your audience, encouraging discussion and feedback.
7. Measurement: Track performance metrics to gauge success and inform future content.
8. Iteration: Continuously refine your approach based on audience response and data insights.

By implementing a well-structured content program, you create a powerful tool for building relationships with your audience, demonstrating your expertise, and driving business growth. It transforms your content marketing from a collection of isolated pieces built in silos into a strategic, cohesive engine that propels your brand forward.

Your Program

Before crafting any single piece of content, it is important to create a program for your organization. A content program serves as the fuel for your entire content strategy. Often, the content program involves interviews with internal stakeholders, industry leaders, prospects, customers, and more. When you use a content program, your organization has a framework to create different types of content with expert-level information.

Theme Statement

The Executive Advantage Series is a video series for private equity operating partners, portfolio company leaders, and executives who want to understand what high-impact leadership looks like inside PE-backed and high-growth environments. In each episode, KTC Search uncovers how transformational executives drive momentum, accelerate performance, and unlock value creation. Every episode brings leaders one step closer to making better, faster, higher-impact talent decisions.

Alternate names: The Leadership Impact Series, Executive Effect

Format: A recorded video series where KTC Search engages in conversations with:

- PE operating partners and portfolio company executives
- KTC Search clients and placed leaders
- Industry experts in leadership, scaling, and value creation
- Advisors, operators, and specialists across key verticals (industrial, tech, professional services)

The format is recorded, so there's no pressure to perform live with an active audience.

Primary Assets

A professionally produced video series where each episode spotlights a unique conversation between KTC Search and a guest. The primary assets created from each episode include:

1. Full video episode (20-30 minutes with intro/outro)
2. Blog recap (800-1,200 words with transcript excerpts and actionable takeaways)
3. Short-form videos (5-7 clips at 30-60 seconds, with captions)
4. Quote graphics (3-5 images featuring guest insights)
5. Gated resource (guide, template, or worksheet related to episode theme)
6. Sales enablement clips (2-3 segments for use in discovery calls and proposals)

Your Content Program

What's expected from you?

- Access to KTC Search: Scheduling and availability for recording sessions.
- List of Best Customers: Potential interviewees who have had significant experiences with KTC Search..
- Venue: A quiet, well-lit space suitable for video recording.
- Recording Equipment: Purchase of a microphone and webcam.
- Company Insights: Data, success stories, or challenges that can be discussed during the interviews.
- Branding Materials: Company logos, color schemes, and any other branding essentials for video editing.
- Feedback Loop: A designated point of contact for reviewing and approving episode content.
- Promotion Support: Sharing and promoting episodes through company channels.

What's expected from Marketers in Demand?

- Recording Software: High-quality remote recording software to capture virtual interviews.
- Production Team: Personnel for directing, recording, and editing the video series.
- Distribution Strategy: A plan for promoting and sharing the video series across various platforms.
- Interview Guidelines: A structured format or script to guide each episode's flow.
- Post-Production: Video editing, including adding graphics, sound effects, and branding elements.
- Analytics: Tools and reports to track video engagement, views, and feedback.
- Feedback Mechanism: A system for KTC Search to review and suggest edits before finalizing episodes.

Structure of Each Episode

The Setup

Who is the guest, and why does their leadership experience matter?

What role were they stepping into, and what challenges were they facing at the time?

When did they recognize the need for different leadership, structure, or strategy?

What prompted them to rethink how performance, culture, or team execution needed to change?

The Struggles	The Wins
What obstacles did the organization face before bringing in the right executive? How were these challenges affecting growth, performance, or operational momentum? What was the “breaking point” that made leadership realize a transformational hire was needed?	What actions or leadership decisions drove meaningful improvement? What worked well early on, and what required adjustment? How did the right leader help stabilize, accelerate, or redirect the organization?

The Lessons

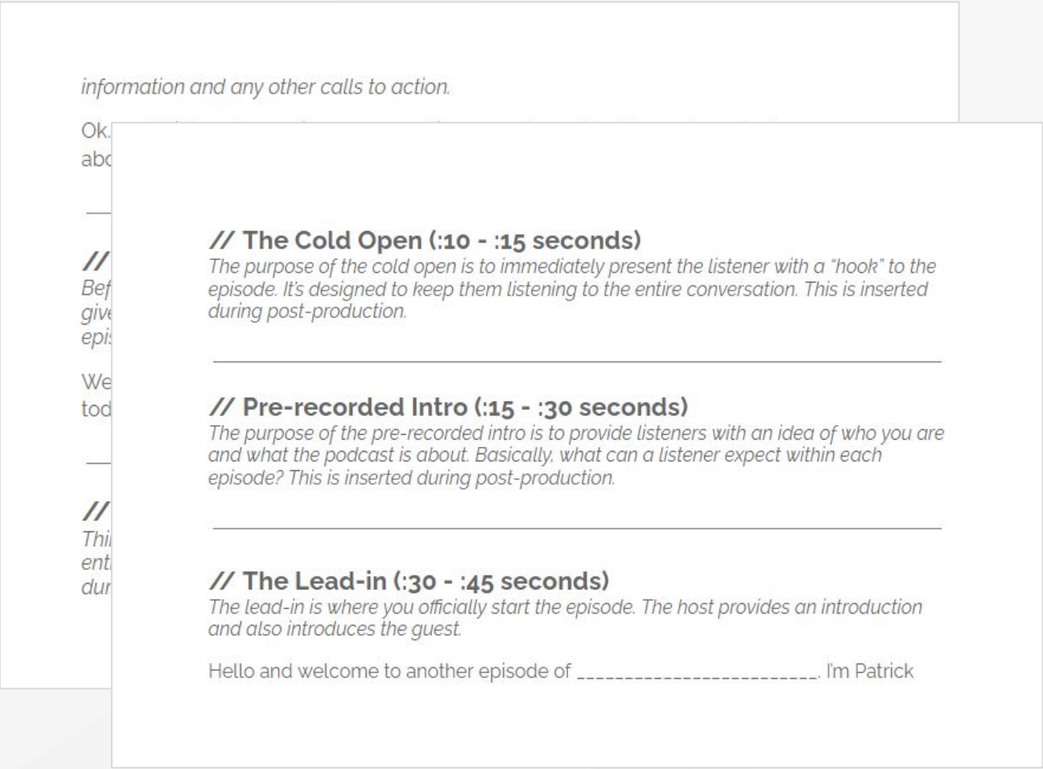
What measurable impact did the new executive have on the business?

What’s different now compared to the period before the leadership change?

How are the team, culture, performance, or results better today?

What advice would the guest give to leaders navigating similar turning points?

Structure of Each Episode



information and any other calls to action.

// The Cold Open (:10 - :15 seconds)
The purpose of the cold open is to immediately present the listener with a "hook" to the episode. It's designed to keep them listening to the entire conversation. This is inserted during post-production.

// Pre-recorded Intro (:15 - :30 seconds)
The purpose of the pre-recorded intro is to provide listeners with an idea of who you are and what the podcast is about. Basically, what can a listener expect within each episode? This is inserted during post-production.

// The Lead-in (:30 - :45 seconds)
The lead-in is where you officially start the episode. The host provides an introduction and also introduces the guest.

Content Management

Outlines the ongoing activities for managing the content plan, including performance reviews, content refresh cycles, and governance checks.

Content Management

Your content evolves each month through 1-2 dedicated meetings, allowing for regular assessment and adjustment of content strategies.

The process begins with reviewing major categories. This step involves a critical examination of what the company wants to be known for, reassessing who they help and how they do it. It's an opportunity to ensure that the content categories still align with the company's evolving brand identity and market positioning.

Next, the team adjusts the content program. This involves reviewing and modifying key components of the existing content series. It's a chance to evaluate what's working well, what needs improvement, and how the content program can better serve the organization's goals.

The third step is generating new ideas. This brainstorming session focuses on identifying new requirements or priorities for content. It's a creative phase where team members can propose fresh concepts, formats, or topics that align with current market trends and audience needs.

Following idea generation, the team reviews existing ideas. This step involves revisiting previously proposed content concepts and reassessing their relevance and potential impact. It's an opportunity to revive valuable ideas that may have been overlooked or to update them based on new insights.

The fifth step is prioritizing content. Using a combination of budget considerations (points available) and overarching marketing goals, the team creates a prioritized list of content initiatives. This ensures that resources are allocated to the right content.

Finally, the process culminates in creating tasks. Based on the established priorities, the team scopes out a list of specific content assets to pursue over the designated time frame. This step translates strategic decisions into actionable tasks, setting the stage for content creation and distribution.

Content Plan

Create tasks - Based on the priorities, scope out a list of content assets to pursue over the course of the designated time frame

Review major categories - Review/adjust what we want the company to be known for (who do we help and what do we do)

Prioritize content - Use a combination of budget and overarching marketing goals to create a list of content priorities

Adjust content program - Review/adjust any key components to the content series for the organization

Review existing ideas - Take a look at previous content ideas and reassess

Generate new ideas - Identify any new requirements or priorities for content
